

Hello dear friends,

I put all the photos in this pdf. To tell a story

And to justify why things don't look good.

Did I take pictures of sushi?

Nope please send me if you have any :#

Dumplings!

Deza's a natural

Was there soup in there? Why did the document editor force me to put this line on a new page when there was plenty of space? Both excellent questions.

I made our resident Walter White make the caramel, which was actually really good.

I don't have a picture of the final, but it was as a hecken beautiful deep brown.

Ok

so

spheres are hard to make Mousse is soft and take a long time to freeze

I could've left these photos out

I won't say what time we finished but it was "F it we ball" time

idk why it looks green
It looks greenish in person too
It's on the inside that counts
Too bad the inside of the freezer wasn't cold enough
Still tasted good tho

Also here is Levi's, who didn't have chocolate

The biggest takeaway was the sorbet
Effort to Quality ratio is great

Everything else actually tastes really good on its own

Melting and time were the real killers

I'm not going in and adding Katt's photos to the right spot

Mostly because this is not a good doc editor

I added them as raws with names I came up with at 1 am

